ROWLAND HALL SCHOOL for GIRLS

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

To the artistic mind and the skillful hand we owe much. To Mr. Fox these belong. The seasonal mobile in the light-well—always fascinating. Imaginative props for a skit or dazzling decorations for a prom.

Mr. Fox is a skillful art teacher and a careful counselor of a class. He is able to see both the serious and humorous sides of things. His unique ideas have added color to this and many other Rowland Hall yearbooks. Thus, to you, Mr. Fox, we gratefully dedicate this book of 1961.

INTRODUCTION

The constellations move in an endless cycle around the sun. In each different stage of this cycle, a certain constellation gains a prominent position in the sky. At Rowland Hall each class goes through a cycle; it achieves insight and maturity through experience.

Each class is important in itself but is, at the same time, a necessary part of the complete cycle. Every class revolves around the ideals and aims of the school. These ideals are constant forces because, with the beginning of each new cycle, different means are used to uphold the aims and achieve still better things.

This scholastic and social cycle which we follow from nursery school through high school prepares us for the future patterns in life. We learn a little about many things, and from this small sampling, we gain incentive to search for greater knowledge and experience.

"No star is ever lost we once have seen,
We always may be what we might have been."
(Adelaide A. Proctor)

GUIDING LIGHTS

Mrs. Elizabeth T. Corr

Mrs. Corr, as headmistress of Rowland Hall, keeps the entire school functioning properly, yet still finds time to consider each student as an individual. She has the capability and understanding to help a kindergarten child adjust to the new experience of school or to prepare a senior for life beyond the years at Rowland Hall. In Mrs. Corr's sincere charm and integrity we find the qualities of the woman we someday hope to be.

The Right Reverend Richard S. Watson

Bishop Watson's contribution to our school goes beyond his administrative duties as chairman of the board. He is equally important in guiding the spiritual life of Rowland Hall. With dignity and affection, he holds the respect of everyone.

Father Winder

With his delight in our jokes and his respect for our problems, the Reverend Canon Francis L. Winder, as Rowland Hall Chaplain, has stimulated greater interest in the Chapel. Working with the Chapel Committee, Father Winder has improved the daily morning services and made them more meaningful to each student.

THE FACULTY is the force which keeps our educational cycle moving. This year, the members of the faculty have accomplished many new things. The Bamberger Trust has enabled deserving and eligible teachers to travel, to study and to carry on research. Mrs. Stifel worked on a desert research project; Mrs. McManus took a course at the University of Utah on the teaching of remedial reading. Mrs. Bradley wrote the syllabus for the new cultural history course, and Mrs. Langer traveled to Europe.

Miss Cross and Miss Rice received National Science Foundation Fellowships. They are now attending the In-Service Institute where they study modern mathematics.

THE OFFICE STAFF efficiently carries out the clerical and financial business of the school.

Miss Gilmer, as the school registrar, co-ordinates our testing schedule and helps the seniors with college transcripts. Mrs. Allison, with friendly understanding and quiet capability, balances the budget and keeps the records in order. Miss Buck and Miss Valerius work diligently to see that the office files are correct and complete.

THE HOUSEHOLD STAFF plays a necessary part in running the school. Mr. Larson, "Sid," is the school chef and manager of the kitchen. He feeds both the appetite and the sense of humor. Mrs. Beck, "Margaret," always cheerful and considerate, keeps the lunch line moving smoothly. Mr. Percy, "Maury," is the person who keeps the school plant in condition. With a hammer and capable hands, he is ever willing and able to help.

HIGH SCHOOL

In this final stage of the cycle, we gaze at the stars with a new perspective. We now turn toward a rational way of thinking which leads us to grasp abstract ideas. We have begun to exchange ideas with our teachers and to better understand points of view other than our own. We have become more independent and now want to participate in a student government. We assume the responsibility to both execute and abide by our honor code and constitution. Now that we have the opportunity to be leaders, we are not content to follow.

COMMENCEMENT

Gather the stars if you wish it so.
Gather the songs and keep them.
Gather the faces of women.
Gather for keeping years and years.

And then . . .

Loosen your hands, let go and say good-by.
Let the stars and songs go.
Let the faces and years go.
Loosen your hands and say good-by.

"Stars, Songs, Faces"
Carl Sandburg

At Graduation we look with anticipation and wonder toward new experiences. We have given a part of ourselves to Rowland Hall, and a part of Rowland Hall will never leave us. So we let the stars and years go, and we say good-by.

NURSERY SCHOOL

Twinkle, twinkle little star, how I wonder where you are?

ORGANIZATIONS

Rowland Hall offers more than just a scholastic education. The school organizations provide the opportunity to develop qualities of leadership and cooperation. Each girl learns to display individuality while working for the benefit of a group. As she contributes to others, she gains for herself. Through participation and the sharing of responsibility, she gains a feeling of importance and closeness to Rowland Hall.

THE CRUCIFER AND ACOLYTES add dignity and serenity to our daily service of morning prayer. These chapel officers are appointed by the Bishop after he has carefully considered the personal recommendations written by members of the student body. The Crucifer and Acolytes are selected for their integrity and eagerness to dedicate themselves toward giving the chapel the significance it deserves.

The Crucifer, holding the highest honor in the school, represents the qualities of character for which every Rowland Hall girl should strive.

CHOIR

The Rowland Hall choir leads in the morning chapel services. With Mr. Hodges directing, the choir sings at Candle and Carol, Baccalaureate and Graduation. The choir also performs for various local civic groups. Through cooperation and conscientious effort on the part of each girl, the choir has become a lasting tradition at Rowland Hall.

The Chapel Committee is comprised of representatives from both Rowland Hall and Saint Mark's schools. The members of the committee are appointed by Bishop Watson, Father Winder, Mrs. Corr, and Mr. Bolbach.

Working with suggestions from the students, the Chapel Committee consistently strives toward making the daily service significant to everyone.

CHAPEL and ALTAR GUILD

The Chapel is an important part of Rowland Hall life and each girl takes pride in caring for it.

The Altar Guild prepares the altar and chapel for all services. It is the duty of the Chapel Guild to keep the chapel clean. The girls work in the chapel with respect and quiet enthusiasm.

The Student Council is the working center of our school government. In regular or emergency meetings, this group of able representatives discusses problems which need serious attention. Suggestions to be presented before the student body, plans for the various events of the year, constitutional changes, and standards we wish to uphold are considered thoroughly and thoughtfully. The Student Council represents the concentrated effort of the students toward self-government at Rowland Hall.

STUDENT COUNCIL

JUDICIARY COMMITTEE

The Judiciary Committee is a special group of girls who work in cooperation with both teachers and students to uphold the ideals of our Honor System. The Judiciary Committee is in part a disciplinary body which maintains the school rules and regulations. More important, however, is the committee's attempt to make each girl aware of the Honor Code and its meaning.

RHO HOTA

Rho Hota is the Rowland Hall chapter of the National Honor Society. Its members are selected on the basis of scholarship and citizenship. The organization's aims are to stimulate academic interest and to promote qualities of leadership. Rho Hota invites guests to speak before the student body, and this adds to, and enriches the students' cultural background. Rho Hota is a respected organization at Rowland Hall, and every girl is proud to be a member.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Athletic Association is the only organization to which every girl in the high school belongs. Its aim is to promote good sportsmanship and school spirit.

At the beginning of each year, the A.A. holds its fall picnic in one of the always beautiful canyons where everyone enjoys the fresh air and fun.

The Athletic Association arouses enthusiasm for the basketball games, which are played every Tuesday night during the season against the other teams of the Church League. These games are as fun for the spectators as for the players.

The high school is divided into the Red Team and the White Team which compete in intramural games. The girls receive individual points for participating, and the winning team also receives points. At the A.A. spring banquet, the team having the greatest number of points is announced, and the officers for the coming year are presented.

This is the first time in many years that Rowland Hall has had a newspaper, THE LAMPLIGHTER, which is put out each quarter by Miss Rice and the journalism class. The newspaper is a product of creative effort and a source of interest to its readers.

ECHOES is the school literary magazine. The stories and poems submitted by the students are selected by Mrs. Bradley for publication. After only two years, ECHOES has been a successful and rewarding endeavor and promises to be a permanent part of Rowland Hall.

Aunt Henri

BOARDING DEPARTMENT

The Rowland Hall Boarding Department is the home of girls from parts of the world extending from Peru to Canada. Under Aunt Henri's guidance, the Boarding Department is governed by a council of girls elected at the beginning of each year. This group is composed of a president, vice-president, and a representative from each class. A warm atmosphere is created by the Hallo-e'en party, the Christmas dinner, and casual weekend get-togethers. Boarding at Rowland Hall is a learning experience in how to live with people of varied backgrounds. Although each girl is proud of her own area, the Boarding Department is her home during the school year.

House Council

ACTIVITIES

Rowland Hall stresses the necessity of becoming a well-rounded person. It is not enough to be academically skilled; one must also have athletic and social capabilities.

The Varsity basketball games and the intramural competition encourage active participation in sports. Initiation and Homestead bring members of the different classes closer together and help the girls get to know each other. The dances and the Bazaar provide opportunity for relaxation from the tensions and pressures of studies.

It is through these social activities that the student may learn to be herself and to enjoy other people. The good student can reach the happy medium between scholastic and social interests.

THE SUMMER DAY IS CLOSED,
the sun is set.
Well they have done their office,
those bright hours,
The latest of whose train goes softly out
